Laws of Nature cannot be Encompassed

(By the Promised Messiah)

On the one hand their mouths speak of God, but on the other, instead of letting their heart and soul, on observing His grand and incomprehensible powers prostrate before Him, they forget Him altogether. If God is such that His attributes and powers are comprehensible within our imagination and estimate then where is the need for prayer? Nay, I tell you that none can comprehend the Will and powers of God. One who claims that he can, is a denier of God. Then flee from him who, believing Allah the Sublime to be the possessor of unlimited powers, says that the miracle of 'Shaqul Qamar' (the splitting of the moon) was against the laws of nature. Take it that such a man is devoid of pure reason and foreseeing mind. Remember well, never trust the laws of nature, that is never subject them to a final limitation, regarding it as the whole secret of the powers of God. In that case the whole mystery is solved. No, such a daring step should not be taken that downgrades one from the rank of worshipfulness, its consequence being outright annihilation. It behoves not a believer to entertain the stupid and foolish idea that the powers of God are limited and can be encompassed. Imam Fakhrudin Razi has rightly said that one who tries to comprehend God by the yardstick of reason is a fool. Look, Allah the Supreme created man from a drop of sperm. It is very very easy to utter these words and on the face of it this is a simple fact. But it is a great mystery and a deep secret that He makes man from a drop of sperm placing such faculties in him. Can any wisdom fathom its nature and its root. The physicists and philosophers struggled hard but failed to get to its bottom. Similarly every atom works under the Will of God the Great. Allah the Sublime is powerful enough to manifest an unusual phenomenon keeping the apparent order of the world undisturbed. Godly people well know these phenomena and enjoy contemplating them. Some people raise objections over very ordinary and trivial matters and fall prey to doubts. For instance, fire did not consume Abraham. This event is very similar to 'the splitting of the moon'. God knows well the consuming limits of fire and what causes it to die out. If some such solution were discovered or revealed the people will believe at once. But in that event the beauty and pleasure of belief in the Unseen and of good faith would be missing. We have never asserted God does not create causes, but some causes are visible and some are not. In short God's works are multifarious. His powers never decline nor does He feel tired.

و هو بكل خلق عليهم افعينا بالخلق الاول (Quran part 26)

This points up His glory.

Even a man of rare wisdom and knowledge cannot comprehend the works of God; on the contrary, he will be forced to plead his own helplessness.
